Narratives

Disaster Damage:

In 2017, communities that had not yet had a chance to fully recover from the 2015 and 2016 floods were impacted again. Hurricane Harvey, a regenerated tropical depression, made landfall on August 25, 2017, as a Category 4 hurricane, bringing with it extreme wind gusts and, in some places, up to 60 inches of rain in 5 days. The hurricane caused catastrophic flooding and at least 82 human fatalities, due in part to the weather system stalling over the Texas coast. The windspeeds recorded over South Texas may have been underestimated, especially near the coast and close to the eyewall of Hurricane Harvey, as many observation stations were disabled prior to landfall of the eye of the hurricane. However, a peak wind gust of 150 mph was reported near Rockport. Hurricane Harvey made landfall twice and is viewed by many as three separate events: the initial landfall in Aransas County; unprecedented rainfall in the Houston metroplex and surrounding areas; and the second landfall on August 29, 2017, in southeast Texas near the cities of Orange, Beaumont, and Port Arthur. These events caused not only wind damage, but also widespread flooding. The 49 CDBG-DR eligible counties affected by Hurricane Harvey cover 15 percent or 39,496 square miles of land area in the state and contain approximately 32 percent of the state’s population. The land area affected is roughly the size of the state of the Kentucky. Nearly 8.9 million Texans live in the affected counties. By the time the rain stopped, Hurricane Harvey had dumped almost a year’s worth of rainfall in just a few days. So much rain fell during the hurricane that the National Weather Service had to update the color charts on their graphics in order to effectively map it. Two additional shades of purple were added to represent rainfall totals for 20-30 inches and “greater than 30 inches” ranges.

Recovery Needs:

Recognizing the state’s long and well-documented history of flooding, hurricanes, wildfires, and droughts, as well as its ongoing efforts to mitigate future disaster effects in its most vulnerable areas, the GLO continues its commitment to rebuilding while prioritizing resiliency. In assessing unmet needs, it is important to consider the additional costs of safeguarding housing and community infrastructure investments from future disasters. As such, Texas will not only assess projects and consider state-run programs that replace or repair lost property but will also seek to invest resources in efforts that promise to mitigate damage from a wide range future disaster types. Although this can increase costs initially, mitigating efforts can greatly reduce the cost of future damages. The success of this long-term recovery practice was seen firsthand during Hurricane Harvey. Resilient-enhanced projects from previous CDBG-DR efforts suffered less damage from Hurricane Harvey: construction projects designed to prevent future flooding, mitigate further loss, and decrease evacuation times. Single family home resiliency solutions are expected to add approximately 10 to 15 percent to the total cost per home; multifamily resiliency solutions add 15 to 20 percent to the total cost per project; and infrastructure resiliency solutions add 15 to 20 percent to the total cost per project. Resiliency solutions are varied and dependent on the respective area’s Threat and Hazard Identification and Risk Assessment (THIRA). Single family home resiliency solutions may include elevating the first floor of habitable area; breakaway ground floor walls; reinforced roofs; storm shutters; use of ENERGY STAR appliances and fixtures; and mold and mildew resistant products. Multifamily resiliency solutions include elevation; retention basins; fire-safe landscaping; firewalls; and landscaped floodwalls. Buyout programs support hazard mitigation, floodplain management goals, and resiliency by removing homeowners from the floodplain, thus eliminating vulnerability to future flooding situations. After homes are purchased, the structures are demolished or relocated. The land reverts to a natural floodplain, converts into a retention area, or is retained as green space for recreational purposes. The buyout option serves multiple objectives and provides a resiliency option versus rebuilding within a floodplain. Buyouts help prevent repetitive loss and extreme risk to human health and safety. Buyouts conducted sooner rather than later prevent homeowners from making repairs and investing funds in properties that they then may not want to sell. In the case of infrastructure resiliency solutions, improvements may include:
• Elevating critical systems, facilities, and roadways above base flood elevation;
• Installing backup power generators for critical systems (water, sewer, etc.);
• Avoiding an increase in impervious cover by keeping projects in their original footprint and encouraging the use of building

practices that allow for more pervious coverage, when possible;
• Replanting with only native vegetation to preserve the natural environment;
• Installing retention basins, larger culverts and debris guards, erosion control solutions, and back-up communication systems; and
• Supporting local community efforts to enhance building codes and regulations

The resiliency multiplier will be a standard 15 percent for both housing and infrastructure activities to calculate unmet need, as has previously been applied in other Texas CDBG-DR programs.

Overall Progress Narrative:

OVERALL NARRATIVE
All programs of this grant have completed all financial obligations and fully expended all grant funds and program income. All required reporting metrics have been reported through DRGR and reviewed for accuracy and completeness. This grant is closed pending approval of the Final Quarterly Performance Report.

Affordable Rental Program
The Affordable Rental Program has concluded. All financial obligations have been completed and all financial data has been reconciled across federal and state systems of record. Overall, this program completed rehabilitation for three developments, reconstruction for one development, and a new construction development. Two developments were completed in conjunction with funding from the Harvey $5B grant and the proportional share of units were reported as actuals applicably under each grant, while the projected number of housing units included the total of these two developments. In total these five developments encompassed one hundred forty-eight total housing units, of which one hundred forty-six were available for public leasing. All one hundred forty-six households that rented these units were of low- to moderate- income, of which sixty-seven were low income households and seventy-nine were moderate income households.

Harris County - Voluntary Buyout Program
The Harris County Voluntary Buyout Program has concluded. All financial obligations have been completed and all financial data has been reconciled across federal and state systems of record. Overall, this program completed two separate area benefit targeted buyout projects, one that benefitted a low-to moderate- income residential area from twenty-two total buyouts of which ten were residential housing units and twelve were vacant lots, and the other that benefitted an urgent need residential area from one total buyout. Both of these buyouts resulted in areas designated as green or open space for flood control structures and water retention. Additionally, fourteen direct benefit households received buyouts from areas in a floodplain or areas of repetitive flooding. Twenty-one households received optional relocation assistance, one household received homeownership assistance, and fourteen households received housing incentives to encourage resettlement.

Harris County - Mandatory Buyout Program
The Harris County Mandatory Buyout Program has concluded. All financial obligations have been completed and all financial data has been reconciled across federal and state systems of record. Overall, this program completed one area benefit targeted buyout project, in conjunction with funding from the Hurricane Harvey $5B grant, that benefitted an urgent need residential area from forty-two total buyouts including lots for mobile home units across eleven properties. Only buyouts that resulted directly from Harvey $57M grant funds were reported within this grant. This buyout resulted in areas designated as green or open space for flood control structures and water retention. Additionally, two households received housing incentives to encourage resettlement, and thirty-seven households received relocation assistance as part of the Uniform Relocation Act.

Harris County - Affordable Rental Supplemental Program
The Harris County Affordable Rental Supplemental Program has concluded. All financial obligations have been completed and all financial data has been reconciled across federal and state systems of record. Overall, this program completed a new construction development that encompassed two hundred eighty-eight total housing units, of which two hundred eighty-six were available for public leasing. All two hundred eighty-six households that rented these units were of low-to moderate-income, of which one hundred seventy-one were low income households and one hundred fifteen were moderate income households.

Activity Description:

Harris County will offer buyout assistance under the voluntary buyout program for residential properties in the Rio Villa target area. Assistance will be provided to property owners who are located in the target area and who agree to relocate to areas of reduced flood risk. This will be considered an area benefit as the County has designated target areas to buyout repetitively flooded properties and to use these areas as green or open space for flood control structures and water retention areas. The County estimates it will acquire approximately 22 sites and 10 housing units under this activity. This activity will meet the low to moderate income national objective.
